

Benefits of Hospital Inpatient Potentially Preventable Complications (PPC) Rate (SPARCS) Datasets

The release of these data will allow researchers to analyze the rate of all payer potentially preventable complications that may have been prevented with proper processes of care and treatment. The release of these rates by hospital may assist in the planning of patient care projects by identifying hospitals that need improvement.

The rates presented in these datasets show trends based on all payer data. This will allow researchers the ability to analyze trends over time on both a statewide and hospital basis.
